Amendments Approved at the Fourth Meeting of the Executive Council for the 2021-2022 Academic Year on December 9, 2021
Amendments Approved at the Sixth Meeting of the Executive Council for the 2025-2026 Academic Year on March 5, 2026

Article 1: Objectives

These Regulations are formulated to support government policies to expand the recruitment of international students and to encourage the enrollment of outstanding international students in undergraduate and master's degree programs at the University.

Article 2: Eligibility

I. New students must meet the following criteria to be eligible to apply:
   1. Applicants must apply for admission to an undergraduate or master's program in accordance with the University's admission brochure for international students.
   2. Applicants must not be recipients of degree-seeking scholarships or financial assistance provided by the R.O.C. government.
   3. Applicants must apply during the first round of the admission period for each semester.

II. Currently enrolled students must meet the following criteria to be eligible to apply:
   1. International students with formal enrollment status at the University (excluding students from Hong Kong, Macau, or Mainland China; exchange students; and dual or triple degree program students) who have completed at least one full semester of study, have a conduct grade of 80 or higher for the previous semester, and meet the following academic requirements:
      a Undergraduate Students: The number of credits taken in the previous semester must meet the standards set by the University's Regulations Governing Course Selection and Registration. The student must have no record of course withdrawals and must have achieved an average academic grade of 75 or higher.
      b Master's Students: Limited to the first two years of study starting from registration. The student must have completed at least three credits in the previous semester, have no record of course withdrawals, and have achieved an average academic grade of 85 or higher.
   2. Students who took a leave of absence during the previous semester are ineligible to apply.
   3. Students must hold a student visa rather than a work visa.
   4. Applicants must not be recipients of degree-seeking scholarships or financial assistance provided by the R.O.C. government.

Article 3: Quota and Amount

The number of recipients and the scholarship amount will be determined based on the annual budget each academic year.

Article 4: Application Period

I. New Students: Applications are made in accordance with the online application period specified in the admission brochure for international students.
II. Current Students: Applications are accepted twice a year, typically in late October and late March. The actual dates are subject to the announcements on the International Student Center (ISC) website. Late applications will not be accepted.

Article 5: Application Procedure

I. New Students: Applications are made through the online application system. Applicants may upload supporting documents, such as proof of language proficiency, proof of awards earned in international competitions, or other relevant materials.
II. Currently Enrolled Students:
    1. One copy of the scholarship application form.
    2. One original copy of the official transcript in Chinese for all previous semesters (including class ranking).
    3. One recommendation letter from the class mentor or thesis advisor.
    4. The following is not required, but may be included: Other supporting documents, such as proof of extracurricular activities, competition awards, or published papers (please provide an electronic copy of the full paper and an abstract in Chinese or English).

Article 6: Term, Amount, and Disbursement

I. New Students: The scholarship is awarded for the semester of admission. The award amount is NT$10,000 per person, disbursed in a single payment at the end of the semester after the student has completed registration and enrollment.
II. Currently Enrolled Students: The scholarship is awarded for the semester of application. The award amount is NT$30,000 per person, disbursed in a single payment at the end of the semester.

Article 7: Forfeiture of Eligibility

Scholarship eligibility shall be revoked if the recipient fails to register for the semester, takes a leave of absence, withdraws from the university, or receives a demerit for gross misconduct.

Article 8: Review and Announcement

The International Student Center (ISC) of the Office of International Education shall conduct the preliminary review. Applications are then submitted to the University's Review Committee for International Academic Exchange for the secondary review. Priority will be given to applicants recommended by senior high schools that have signed a strategic alliance with the University. Results will be announced on the Admission for International Students webpage and the ISC website.

Article 9: Implementation and Amendment

These Regulations were passed by the Executive Council, and will be promulgated and implemented after the approval of the President. The same procedure will be followed for each amendment.
